

Majorca Daily Bulletin

Thursday, September 20 2018

1.20€ · Founded 1962 · N.16699 · Passeig de Mallorca 9 A, Palma 07011

“My brother-in-law asked if he could have an English Tea. “You are in Spain NOT England,” he bellowed, “so no you cannot have English Tea.”” See Letters Page 2

Maurice alongside Wing Commander Andrew Keith and Ambassador Simon Manley.

Needs more work EU criticises May's Brexit plan

P rime Minister Theresa May received less than glowing praise for her Brexit plan yesterday, with top EU official Donald Tusk saying Britain must rework its proposals for Northern Ireland and trade.

Hours before the British prime minister was due to try to sell her plan to the other European Union leaders, summit chairman Tusk repeated criticism of her proposals for future customs arrangements and for the border between the British province of Northern Ireland and EU member Ireland.

May has shown little sign of backing away from her “Chequers” plan, and repeated her aims in a carefully placed article in a German newspaper on the eve of the two-day EU summit in Salzburg, Austria.

But Tusk was clear - her customs proposals and those aimed at preventing a hard border on the island of Ireland would have to be reworked. Earlier, EU negotiator Michel Barnier signalled he was ready to address Britain's border concerns.

See Inside

BEST OF BRITISH

● Display by the Red Arrows in Minorca watched by former Battle of Britain pilot who has recently celebrated his 100th birthday.

Mahon.—The display by the Red Arrows over Minorca on Tuesday delighted many people but none more than Pilot Officer Maurice Moundsen, formally of Number 56 Squadron, Royal Air Force. Maurice is one of the last surviving Battle of Britain pilots and he watched the display alongside Wing Commander Andrew Keith and the British ambassador to Spain Simon Manley. Maurice shares something in common with his beloved Royal Air Force, they are both the same age! Maurice retired to Minorca a few years ago.

Red Arrows Special: Centres

Tired Londoners rent sleep pods for some zzz's: See Inside